6. In-text citations:

In-text citations are to use the author-date style of APA (Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association) 6th edition. Source citations for direct quotations must provide page numbers as well as author(s) and date.

7. Notes:

If there are any notes, these are to be numbered consecutively and to be placed at the end of the paper, before the References section in a section called Notes. Please do not use the computer's footnote or endnote function. Instead, use the Superscript in the text and numbering function in the Notes.

8. References:

Manuscripts are to use APA style (6th edition) where sources appear in a References section; all sources must be referred to in the text.

References need to include complete information: date, page numbers of articles or chapters, and complete names for institutions and organizations rather than abbreviations or acronyms. References from conferences or other Proceedings also need page numbers. References use hanging indent paragraph style (.3) as shown in the reference examples given below.

Note: For books and articles only first word of title, proper nouns, and the first word following a colon (:) in the title are capitalized. Volume number of journal is in italics as is the journal title and pp. is not used before the page numbers.

9. Figures and tables:

All figures and tables need to be referred to at the appropriate points in the text. They should be imbedded in the manuscript (i.e., not all grouped together at the end) in the logical location for reference and appear in consecutive order. Figures and tables should be numbered in order throughout the text, and each requires a title or caption. Each figure and table should be centred.

For a table, type "Table" and its number on a line by itself, followed on a new line by the table title (In title case, in italics, with no period) both flush left. Place the table flush left. Within the table provide 6 pts above and below headings and the same space between table number and title. Provide a single space between the table title and table bottom and the text. Where appropriate, sources of data are to be indicated at the bottom of the table. For example - "Source: Smith & Jones, 2001." Or include a "Note" with an acknowledgement (see APA).

Capitalize all references to tables and figures (e.g., "...number of users is greater as shown in Figure 1," "See Table 2 below.").

For a figure, "Figure 1." (or 2 or 3, etc.) is typed flush left and italicized on the first line below the figure, immediately followed on the same line by the caption (which should be a brief descriptive phrase). The phrase is not italicized and ends with a period. Where appropriate, indicate sources of data at the bottom of the figure.

If you are reproducing a graphic, chart, or table, from some other source, you must provide a special note at the bottom of the item that includes copyright information. Also submit written permission along with your work. Begin the citation with "Note."

10. Equations:

Equations should be centered on the page, with a blank line above and below. They should be numbered consecutively throughout the paper, using Arabic numbers in parentheses at the right-hand margin.

11. Lists:

Lists should be indented (.5). Bullet items: style -- round, black.

12. Notes on usage

Terms:

the Web or the World Wide Web Internet
email
e-health

IPad
iPod
ICT -- Information Communication Technologies (plural)

Acronyms and abbreviations:

Acronyms and abbreviations for organizations or agencies should be explained in their first use, such as the University of the Fraser Valley (UFV). To abbreviate the name of an organization or agency to the initial letters, use capitals and no periods.

Use of Italics:

Use italics sparingly to identify special terms or to indicate special emphasis.

13. Author details

At the end of the paper, below the references, each author should include name and an e-mail address.

Example:

Peter Jones
peter.jones@peterswoodcollege.edu

N.B. We suggest all authors refer to the proceedings of the previous year's ICICTE conference before formatting their papers. Any paper that does not follow formatting instructions will be sent back to the author/s for revision.
